

A project of Vanco Development, LLC

Have you heard about the plans for *The techFarm*TM, Plymouth's new technology park? Located at the intersection of US30 and Pine Road, on Plymouth's growing west side, the park will provide technology companies the perfect environment to grow and prosper.

*The techFarm*TM will offer a professional campus setting and a variety of benefits important to a growing company. Some of planned amenities include:

- Affordable fiber optic broadband services
- A research and development testing center
- New product commercialization services
- A state of the art conference and training facility
- University program collaboration
- Access to funding sources
- Plenty of space for expansion
- A 100,000 square foot health, fitness and medical facility on site

If you have questions about growing your business in the area's most dynamic new park, contact David Miller at 574-936-9886 or email dmiller@vancodevelopment.com.
